PUTTING FORGIVENESS INTO PRACTICE

Imagine that this happened to you: You throw a ball inside the house, even though you've been told not to. You break a glass sitting on the kitchen counter. Your mom, who is usually calm, gets very angry and yells at you. You're so upset that you run to your room and refuse to talk to her about it.

In this scenario, it looks like you and your mom have both done things you wish you hadn't. So, how can you show forgiveness to your mom? How can your mom show forgiveness to you? Show your answer by drawing a picture or writing a few sentences below.
